Related items have been grouped

Good or improved	Needs improvement	Response or Other issues brisket and liver - good taste	liver and brisket looks bad - shredded - prefer sliced	Thomas said they were trying a new liver recipe - that could be prepared in advance. Frying it as ordered causes too much delay.
fried shrimp	beans and cornbread – please serve more often turkey, dressing & gravy	Hamburgers take a long time when ordered from alternative menu. Could some be precooked - ready to quickly finish on grill?	Thomas says - then they are too dry. Could they be kept hot in beef broth?
beets and vinegar	Some residents with allergies (celery, spenda, etc) ask servers about what is in a dish before ordering. The server asks another server instead of checking with the cook.	Thomas said potential allergy items are mentioned during the stand-up meeting that is held with servers before every meal.
brownies - good taste	brownies - too hard to eat	we don't miss champagne brunch
cheesy potatoes - good taste	cheesy potatoes - soupy
mac and cheese - like crusty top	request for pecan pie	Lee is working on schedule for at least one staff member to eat in dining room each day.
corn pudding	Can we please have link sausage, ham, sausage in gravy, blue berry pancakes, and other occasional changes to provide variety to breakfast.	Thomas said they may change sausage patties to link sausage permanently. He's already talked to a resident who makes sausage sandwiches daily. They said they can use two links instead of a patty.
Birthday Steak was very good and served at supper when requested.	Monthly steak lunch for residents with birthdays - used to sit together. People who are out at lunch don't get their steaks.	Colored placemats and balloons are used to designate residents with birthdays that month - usually on third Wednesday. Thomas says they can get their steak that evening - if cooks are available - or request it the next month.

Food has been hot more often. Variety and quality of cooked vegetables has improved	Vegetables still often served cold. Richard took cold food to the kitchen, second serving was still cold.	Thomas said they take temperature of food every day before it's served and most complaints are second seating - which has the most residents. Lee said they could buy a thermo gun so servers can check food before serving it.
salmon patties	Third seating is often told that they are out of food. Salads with no lettuce.	Thomas says that there is plenty of food. Lee wants to be called when this is happening. Residents should have front desk person call him.
reuben sandwich	beef tips - too salty - twice this month	Late residents demanding attention from servers. One resident threw food. Lee said this is not acceptable behavior and would like to talk to the resident.
	Quality of meat in chicken sandwiches varies on different days. One time, it's good quality chicken breast, and others, it's cold cuts. Servers unable to tell residents which it will be.	Last month we agreed to write a list of expectations for residents and staff. We still plan to do this.
Many residents like buffet service because they can see the food being served.	Others, with mobility issues, don't like buffet.	Confusion about how to place to-go orders. A specific table was set up for to-go orders – but not followed thru.
Bananas Foster	We are often short of servers.	Thomas said this is a scheduling issue - because most servers are high school or college students and can only work certain days and times because of their classes.
Broccoli Chicken Casserole	Not much chicken in the Broccoli Chicken Casserole	When asked about going back to two seatings, Thomas said that would result in slower service.
potato salad and coleslaw	Chicken wings in box lunches were pale - we prefer fried chicken - brown and crisp.	Where does left over food go? Often it is used in soups.
coconut cake	orange blossom cake - no orange taste	Please put plates under water and tea carafes, so they don't leave water puddles and drip all over.
chicken noodle soup	Dessert called 'Butter Roll'	These were baked in milk - an experiment gone wrong.

LIBRARY COMMITTEE – Lillian Williams

The Oklahoma City Public Library still has not picked up their books but they have been notified and a new pick up day to rotate their books has been set for May 13.

NEW BUSINESS

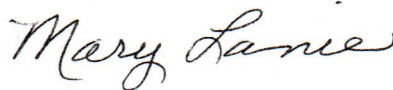

It was suggested that we have a Taco Bar at least once a month. It also was brought up that perhaps we could put benches in the stairwells. This would have to be checked out by the Fire Department.

OLD BUSINESS

The Fire and Tornado procedures continue to be worked on. Once our plan is completed it will need to be approved by the Fire Department and then they will come and help with our first drill.

A motion was made by Sue Cooper for adjournment, seconded by Mary Land. Meeting was adjourned at 10:35am.

Respectively submitted,
